Other Interesting State and Miscellaneous News Items.

KILLING THE HOSTILES.

DENVER, Col., May 3, 2 a. m.—The Republican's Santa Fe special says the following dispatch was received there at midnight:

A column of Mexican troops to-day, under command of Colonel Garcia, met the Indians that Colonel Forsyth is in pursuit of, and killed seventy-eight of them, also taking thirty-three prisoners.

The courier bringing this information from Denning arrived on foot, being pushed so hard by the Indians that he had to abandon his horse, and barely escaped with his life.

He reports about 100 Indians from Denning and Tresjonmas.

ANA—Dentists who have tried "Tea-Berry" pronounce it the finest thing on the face of this earth for the teeth and breath. 5 cent samples. Sold by Prentice & Evenson.

LICENSE $700.

WHITWATER, Wis., May 2.—We have two saloons in this place, each of which has to pay a license fee of $700. Hadn't some of the Ohio saloonists better come up here? If they showed any disposition to "kick" we could easily double the above amount.

It works wonders upon the Digestive apparatus. Zorena, from Brazil, acts as a gentle purgative, cures Dyspepsia, removes languor and low spirits, gives energy and capacity for work. Sold by Prentice & Evenson.

LONGFELLOW'S WILL.

BOSTON, Mass., May 2.—Judge Brooks gave a decision to-day which affects several bequests in the will of the poet Longfellow. The decision is that easements will be considered no part of the will and the interlineations of no effect. This deprives the children of the testator's brother of a legacy of $1,000, and makes void a legacy of $5,000 to his brother Stephen. The decision is based on the ground that a will cannot be altered except by a codicil. The will was admitted to probate, and Ernest W. Longfellow was appointed administrator with the will annexed, in place of the late Richard H. Dana, named in the will.

A Significant Fact.

The cheapest medicine in use is THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For cramp, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the throat or chest, or for taking internally or inhaling, it is a matchless compound, sold by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.

THE COW BOYS.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The Fitz John Porter case and the Arizona troubles, both with the cow boys and the Indians, were the questions considered at the cabinet meeting to-day. It was decided that the President should issue a proclamation for the lawless cow boys to disperse, and, if not obeyed, to use the troops in enforcing the order. The cabinet differed with the Senate judiciary committee on this subject, that existing laws were sufficient to meet the trouble. All the members of the cabinet were present except Attorney General Brewster, who is sick with a cold. The session lasted three hours.

Sydney Smith being ill, his physician advised him to "take a walk upon an empty stomach." "Upon whom?" asked Sydney. Still better, says to take a walk. The purchase of Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and Pleasant Purgative Pills, which are especially valuable to those who are obliged to lead sedentary lives or are afflicted with any chronic disease of the stomach or bowels. By druggists.

LIFELIKE AFTER DEATH.

KROOK, Ia., May 2.—Hopes and fears have intermingled in the hearts of many to-day on account of the state in which the body of the poisoned man, John Elder has been in ever since he died. Until within the last two hours the body has looked like that of a living person, but now all hopes of recovery are lost. A flush has filled his cheeks all along until now. His burial will take place to-morrow.

To PROMOTE A VIGOROUS GROWTH of the hair, use Parker's Hair Balsam. It restores youthful color in gray hair, removes dandruff, and cures itching of the scalp.

SHEEP BREEDERS.

WHITWATER, May 2.—The Wisconsin Merino Sheep Breeders Association met this morning with a good attendance of breeders. The shearing continued all day, and at 5 o'clock last night the record showed ten sheep sheared, the average weight of fleeces being eighteen pounds, the highest weighing eleven and a half pounds, and the heaviest twenty-two, having grown in one year on a sheep weighing 116 pounds, four years old, and owned by A. F. Gould. The fleeces were nearly all grown inside of a year. The sires of those sheared to-day are all right Surplus, Pompadour, Woodwink and Wisconsin. Weight of carcasses ranged from nine-one to 116. Valuable sheep belonging to Mr. Cook died in the shears hands of heart disease. About 140 of the finest merinos are in the pens awaiting their turn on the shearer's stand.

"BUCHUPAIBA."

Quick, complete cure, all annoying Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Diseases. $1 Druggists. Depot, Prentice & Evenson Janesville.

SKINNY MEN.

"Wells' Health Renewer" restores health and vigor, cures Dyspepsia, Impotence, Sexual Debility. $1 at druggists. Depot, Prentice & Evenson Janesville.

RUSK'S MISSION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—To-morrow morning Senators Sawyer and Cameron, with Governor Rusk and Attorney General Frisby, will visit the Secretary of War, for the purpose of a conference in reference to the dam at Appleton. It is believed the Secretary of War has undoubted power to take peremptory action; but in any event, Senator Sawyer is of the opinion that the conditional clause which it is proposed to put in the river and harbor bill will be effective. He believed parties interested in the water power realize that there can be no postponement of action demanded for the prevention of future destruction, and that a result will be speedily reached that will be satisfactory, and allay the apprehension of citizens exposed to injury.

THE FIRE RECORD.

DOVER, N. H., May 2.—The Washington Street Baptist Church burned. Loss $25,000; partially insured.

MIDDLETOWN, Del., May 2.—Cox's carriage shop and five other buildings burned. Loss, $30,000.

BOSTON, Mass., May 2.—The Union Carpet-Linings Works burned. Loss, $20,000; insured.

OSHKOSH, Wis., May 2.—Conlee Bros. sawmill and a quantity of lumber was destroyed by fire this afternoon. The fire originated under the fly-wheel, and spread so rapidly that the workmen hardly escaped. Loss on mill, $20,000.

CLEAR HEAD and voice, easy breathing, sweet breath, perfect smell, taste and hearing, no cough, no distress. These are conditions brought about in catarrh by the use of Sanford's Radical Cure. Complete treatment for $1.

TERRIBLE itching and scaly humors, ulcers, sores, and scrofulous swellings cured by the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap (the great skin cures) externally, and Cuticura Resolvent (blood purifier) internally. Ask about them at your druggists.

POLK WELLS.

ATCHISON, Kan., May 2.—The intelligence that Charles Polk Wells, the noted outlaw, had escaped from the Fort Madison (Iowa) penitentiary created much excitement and comment here. He formerly lived here, and has left his marks in robbery and murder in this town and county. He was raised in the Missouri bottoms opposite here, and early fled to Utah to escape lynchings for horse-stealing where he murdered his uncle, Smith, a Mormon priest. In this section he murdered an old lady named Scott because she refused him admittance to her house, wounding her son also in the leg. Last July he robbed a store of $1,400 in Nortonville, a few miles from here, and shot one of the proprietors. The Governor offered a reward of $1,000 for his capture. His sister, Mrs. Frank Meyers, resides here. An interview with a correspondent disclosed that she was not surprised at his escape, for his friends were on the alert for such an occurrence.

A Losing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburg said jokingly to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters." The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

Milton.

The colleagues observed May day with a good deal of ceremony, despite the coolness of the atmosphere. About thirty of the cadets assembled on the "square" about 4 o'clock p. m., and preceded by the company colors and the cornet band marched down to Storrs' Lake. While there a drill was indulged in, a camp fire built, and coffee served. About five o'clock the ladies of the college, who had arranged to visit the lake before the bold soldiers marched away, betook themselves to the place which some of our divines call the "Devil's Commons." At 6 o'clock the martial music began to be heard, and soon with band playing and colors flying, the heroes of many a bloodless fight marched proudly through town to College Hill, with the fair maidens guarded in front and rear by the glistening old muzzle loaders of a by-gone age.

T. H. Alexander, agent of the St. Paul company at Mason City, Iowa, was in town this week. He reports the Milton boys at Mason as enjoying good health. James Mills made his Milton friends a pleasant call this week. He is looking hale and hearty, and we were all glad to meet him.

If you want a No. 1 Norwegian plow, call at Gazette office. Will be sold at a bargain.

Lima.

—Miss Hattie Silsbee, of Janesville, is visiting in Lima.

—Elder Bailey and Mr. Sheral Clarke, of Milton, visited Mr. Alonzo Truman this week.

—Mrs. Johnson and family left to join her husband, in Iowa, last Monday night.

—M. R. B. Charles has been indulging in a new carriage.

—Quite a number of Lima's Masons attended the lodge at Whitewater last week.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bacon are enjoying a pleasant visit from a Milton friend.

—We understand that Miss Emeline Child is quite sick.

—Query—Where are the new sidewalks?

—Carpenters are at work improving the residence of Mr. Fred Gould.

—Messrs. Vincent, of Milton, spent Sunday, as usual, with Lima friends.

—Last Monday evening our usually quiet town was aroused and entertained by a mob—of boys desirous of finding a party of girls who had hung some May bunnies.

—Several of the Lima people visited Janesville last week.

—Preparations are quietly going on for a wedding soon.

—A young child of Mr. Kunkel was buried in the Lima cemetery last Tuesday. The first interment there this year.

—The M. E. church now wears a garb more indicative of purity as the result of Mr. Palmer's paint brush.

—It creates quite a sensation when some of our young men quietly mount the hand-car and go to Whitewater Saturday evenings, but the result of their trip is not so generally known, as is that of a fair belle of this place, who recently took a trip there in the daytime, and got swamped in the "tangle-foot."

—Remember the choir practice at the U. B. church next Saturday evening.

—We know nothing of the particulars of the case, but the provocation what it may it seems as though the son who so far forgot the filial duties and affections naturally due to a parent as to assault and beat his aged and feeble father, had no materially decency. We understand that there will be no prosecution.

How often persons have been annoyed by burrs clinging to their dress or clothing, and how seldom have they, when cleaning them, given it a thought that Burdock Root is the most valuable blood cleanser and purifier known, and is sold by every druggist under the name of Burdock Blood Bitters. Price $1.00. Sold by A. J. Roberts and F. Sherer & Co.

Milton Junction.

—Mr. Ormanzo Cottrell, of Dennison, Iowa, arrived in town on Friday last, for a few days visit with his parents and friends.

—Mr. C. C. Clarke and wife went to Rockton last week for a few days visit in that locality.

—Mr. Wm. Hemphill has been on the sick list for a week past.

—Elder V. Hull preached at the Seventh Day Baptist church last Saturday morning.

—The continued cold weather is becoming a source of serious concern to the farmers.

—Mr. E. T. Higgins, formerly of Mazomania, has recently been appointed station agent here for the Milwaukee & St. Paul road.

—Miss Susan Craig has come to Mitchell, Dakota, where she will remain for the present with her sister, Mrs. O. Walrath.

—Mr. Bomberger, of Philadelphia, the tobacco buyer who operated at Milton last winter in company with Messrs. Earl & Soverhill, made us a call on Monday.

—Miss Carrie Burdick, of Janesville, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Edna Burdick, this week.

—Mrs. Wm. Roberts, of Albion, left here on Tuesday for a visit to her daughter in Nebraska.

—Mrs. Hattie Young, of Miles, Iowa, is here on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hill.

—Mrs. Mattie Clarke, of Washington Heights, Ill., arrived here on Monday, in response to a telegram announcing the dangerous illness of her father, Mr. F. Baten.

—Seven dollars and fifteen cents a hundred was the price paid by the Junction buyers last week for a lot of hogs, sold them by Orson Cox. What market beats that?

—Nat Kidder has spent the last two weeks at Camp Douglas, in this State, waiting the opportune moment to arrive to slaughter the pigeons that are nesting in that locality in large numbers. A week ago Saturday he telegraphed the McCulloch boys to come on, and report says they are meeting with good success.

—Miss Cora Holmes came down from Madison Monday, and is visiting relatives here.

—We are informed by Mr. A. W. Maxon that the sorghum mill and machinery will be put in first class condition for business this fall, and desires that farmers will put in as large an acreage this year as possible.

—The friends of Mrs. R. B. Hinkley gave her a birthday surprise on Saturday evening of last week. Several nice presents were among the helps to make the evening a pleasant one.

—Mrs. H. W. Bordwell is slightly convalescing from her late illness, so as to be able to ride out.

—The postoffice has been moved from its late quarters into the store room one door south, where the public, as well as the postmaster, will find a much better light and a larger and more convenient room for the transaction of Uncle Sam's business.

—Fred Clark shipped three ear loads of stock on Monday, a good portion of which came from the prairie around Johnston. Fred came up from Chicago on Tuesday, stopped at Rockton, where the boys will buy and ship a few ear loads of stock before returning.

—The Hall and Derby concert troupe, billed for Morgan's hall Monday night, did not fill their appointment, having disbanded at Clinton the day before. While we have no tears to shed because of their failure to appear, or even the loss of our complimentary, which we probably should not have used, yet we think their reception at Clinton must have been peculiarly discouraging.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

Slaves of All Colors.

"Slavery," said an intelligent young machinist to a Chronicle reporter, "why, slavery is so good a name for the labor system in the Hawaiian Islands. I went to the Islands two years ago and worked on the plantations," continued the machinist, "and from what I have seen I quite agree with the old negro who told me one night at Naalehu, 'I've worked in Louisiana in the worst days and I never struck any slavery like what we have on this plantation.'" In the majority of places, according to the machinist's description, each laborer is given a room about six by eight feet to lodge in, and this apartment has to answer all the requirements of single or married life.

In many cases the machinist saw a family of six white people living in one small room, with a shameless disregard for all the decencies of life.

At 6 o'clock the hands are escorted to the field to work. The overseer of each gang is on his mettle to detect any negligence or tardiness, knowing well that the value of his services is rated by the amount which he can deduct from the wages of the slaves. If an unhappy bondman is seen shirking his work he is deprived of the wages for that day. If he resents the imposition he is dragged before the native officer of the land who is hauled off well met with the planter, and is fined. The system of fines is in fact the most advantageous to the flint-hearted overseer, for by judiciously using the machinery of the law he can keep the bondman more securely in his power. The law prevents them from leaving the service of the planter while they are indebted to him, and the imposition of a few heavy fines prolongs their slavery for years.

The food given to the bondman is not so bad in quality as disgusting in the manner in which it is served and served. The Chinamen and the South Sea Islanders do their own cooking. The white slaves depend on a Chinese cook, who is the servant of the plantation and endeavors to express through his pots and pans the sinister disregard of the overseer and the planter. The machinist described the food furnished him and other artisans at various plantations as disgusting: "It doesn't take the poor fellows long to become demoralized, and they are fit only for good. The sale of liquor is forbidden on the islands, but the old dollars the poor slaves get soon go in drink. That's how the Chinese grow rich by selling rice brandy. The drink and the slavery make them all one—negroes, Chinamen, South Sea Islanders, Kanakas and whites. If ever there was a hell on earth, it's on some of these plantations I've seen."—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Pleasures of Business.

No human mind is contented without occupation. No human soul is without an aim or purpose in life. The greatest success in life consists not in the mere accumulation of riches, but in being able to acquire wealth with a disposition to apply it in such a manner that it shall be a comfort and blessing to others—not in the mere giving away of money, but in putting people in a way to labor and help themselves. There is no pleasure in oppression. There is no pleasure in grinding and exacting gold from the poor; but there is a great deal of genuine satisfaction in being able to offer steady and honorable employment to the many willing hands that have nothing to do. One of the greatest enjoyments of the prosperous business man consist in being able to comfortably provide for the many employees in his house or manufactory. In doing this he is fulfilling his obligation to society; he becomes a useful and honored citizen; business to him is a real pleasure; he enjoys his successes, when they are fairly won, because he feels that he deserves them.

When a business man has the right kind of purpose in life he always enjoys his occupation. He feels a just and worthy pride in his prosperity, he is pleased with the respect and gratitude of those whom he directs and controls in the management of his affairs, and he feels that in benefiting himself he is conferring a favor upon others.—Criterion.

She was Sick.

Johnny's mother was sick with congestion of the lungs, and her pastor meeting her son Johnny on the street, stopped him:

"Well, Johnny," said he, "how is your mother, and why has she not been at church?"

"She is sick, sir," he replied.

"Ah, and what is the matter, Johnny?"

"Wily, sir, the doctor says as how she has got chestnuts on her lungs."

The preacher called around at once to learn the exact state of the case.—Steubenville Herald.

The concern that always makes money—the mint.

HOURS OF THE DAY.

The man who toes the mark—the old man who reaches out for Jane Ann's feller at two o'clock a. m.

Sweet Evelina from the suffocating embrace of her lover cried out: "Give me liberty or give me death."—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Old Deacon Dodson always boasted that he was "prepared for the worst," and his neighbors thought he got it when he married his second wife.

They asked him if he was the best man at the wedding. "No," he said, "I don't know as I was the best, but, be jabbers, I was as good as any of 'em!"

Consciousness of an audience by talking of ribbon from their mouths, but then it is a common thing to see a carpenter take hammer and nails out of his chest.

"I AM very glad to have met you, sir," said Brown, politely. "Are you?" replied Fogg; "here's a note you may be glad to meet, also." Brown wasn't so powerfully glad to meet it, but he had to.

Student under examination in physics: "What planets were known to the ancients?" "Well, sir, there was Venus and Jupiter, and—after a pause—"I think the earth, but I'm not quite certain."

"Do I look anything like you, Mr. Jones?" inquired Cauliflower. "I hope not," was the reply. "Did a man take you for me?" "Yes." "Where is he?" "I must lick him." "Oh, he's dead. I shot him on the spot."

"See there!" exclaimed a returned Irish soldier to a gaping crowd, as he exhibited with some pride his tall hat with a bullet hole in it. "Look at that hole, you see? You see that it had been a low-crowned hat I should have been killed outright."

"I say Gilpin," said Squire McGill, "who was that sandy-haired man who was talking with this morning?" "Oh, that was Colonel Thunderpool, of Syracuse. He's a big gun in politics."

"Yes, I judged he was a big gun in something; he seemed to be such a smooth bore."—Marathon (N. Y.) Independent.

GEORGIE, aged four years, was playing with his toys when his cousin Mary, of sweet sixteen, seized him and gave him a "kiss-box." "Oh, be," said his mother, "George mustn't say that." "George—"

"That's what Cousin Mary said night when he kissed her."—Boston Journal.

A MERCHANT once sent his collector to call on a debtor for some money. When the collector returned the merchant inquired if he had the money. "No," replied the youth; "but he told me if I'd come in to-morrow he'd pay me."

"Did he say anything else?" asked the merchant. "W-a-s, yes," said the collector, nonchalantly; "he said something about 'in his mind's eye,' but he wasn't speaking to me."

AN OLD fellow, whose daughter had failed to secure a position as teacher, in consequence of not passing an examination, said: "They asked her lots of things she didn't know. Look at the history questions! They asked her about things that happened before she was born! How was she going to know about them? Why, they asked her about old George Washington and other men she never knew! That was a pretty sort of examination!"—New York Evening Post.

Two men disputed about their powers of endurance, and one said testily to the other: "I bet you that I can hold my legs in boiling water longer than you can."

"Done," said the other, and the steaming water was brought. In went the legs. No. 1 with an air of defiance. No. 2 with an odorous serenity. No. 1 began to wince. No. 2 called calmly for the newspaper. No. 1 began to find it intolerable. No. 2 smiled at the humor of the paper. No. 1, exasperated by the heat of the water and the coolness of his antagonist, "what is your leg made of?" "Wood," sentimentally replied the other.

A Magnanimous Woman. "Twas a terrible moment. The man was evidently drowning, while the crowd on shore stood helpless and horrible. At this juncture some one yelled, 'Oh, for a boat!' But there was no boat within ten miles. The suspense became awful, and the sun sank into the misty bosom of the West like a bloody pumpkin. All at once a female voice was heard above the roar of the breakers. 'Never mind the boat; take one of my shoes.' It was the voice of a heroic Chicago woman, and the applause that greeted it was heard three hundred miles at sea."—Chicago Tribune.

"You've got the drop on me," as the spoon said to the medicine bottle.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters as plain, honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them a trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

An Encounter.

The boys may be interested in the description of a combat in Maine as published in the Boston Journal, between a panther and two young men who were hunting partridges in the vicinity of the Madoc Pond.

They came suddenly upon a panther, and it would be difficult to tell whether they or he were the most frightened. The puma, after giving a terrible growl, slowly retreated, when one of the sportsmen, Prof. A. E. Jones, of Washington, fired at him, the shot taking effect in his side.

This only served to inflame his anger. Turning quickly, he came with mighty bounds straight at the sportsmen. They had only time to fire one shot when the animal was upon them.

With a leap he crushed Prof. Jones to the ground, when his companion, E. B. Stickney, with wonderful quickness, inserted a shell into his gun, and placed the muzzle against the animal's head, discharged it and killed the animal instantly.

Mr. Jones owes his life to the nerve and coolness of his friend. He was fortunate in escaping with only a few slight scratches on the lower limbs, and a large gash on the breast which leaves a scar he will carry to his grave.

Several farmers in the neighborhood have lately found the mangled remains of a number of their sheep and lambs, and this animal had probably destroyed them. The panther measured six feet and four inches from tip to tip, having claws nearly two inches long.

Taking Charge of a Female.

Just before the train for Buffalo pulled out of the Central Depot a man entered the depot in company with an old decrepit woman who was being sent to St. Thomas, Ont. Leaving her for a moment he boarded the train, passed slowly along until he came to the right man, and then asked:

"Are you going through?" "Yes."

"Are you alone?" "Yes."

"Would you have any objection to taking charge of a lady friend of mine?" "Oh, none in the least."

"Won't he be my brother?" "Oh! no, no! I shall esteem it as a privilege."

"Thank you. I shall be a thousand times obliged. She is very innocent and childish, and I am lucky to fall in with such a gentleman as you. I will bring her in."

He returned for the old woman and helped her aboard, and those who were there saw that the man who was going through and would esteem it a privilege dropped off the rear platform with his satel as the train started.—Detroit Free Press.

Not Used to Him.

A policeman heard a whistle shrilly blown and a female voice calling for help, and after a short run he reached the scene of commotion. A man was getting up and falling down again on the door-steps, and a female had her head out of an upper window and seemed to be half scared to death.

"What's the matter?" asked the officer. "A man has been kicking on the door," she answered.

"This man here?" "Yes. I thought he'd tear the whole house down."

The officer reached out for the man and made two discoveries at once. It was the woman's husband, and he was fighting drunk.

"Why, this man wouldn't hurt you—he's your husband," he called out. "Is that so? Charles, is that you?" "But yer life's young," mumbled Charles.

"Then you really must excuse me, Mr. Officer. You see, we have only been married six weeks and I do not readily recognize him yet. I'll be down in a minute, darling."

According to an English geographical writer, there are four vast areas still to be opened up or traversed by civilized man, and which among them, constitute about one-seventeenth of the whole area of the globe. Of these there is the antarctic region, which in extent is about twenty-five times that of Great Britain; the second lies about the North Pole; the third is in Central Africa, and the fourth in Western Australia. The south polar region referred to is almost continuous with the antarctic circle. The vast African area reaches on the west very closely to the coast, and it is only near the equator that it has more than superficially been driven inland. In Australia the great undeveloped region is that which lies west of the track explored from north to south by Stuart, and which now forms the line of telegraphic communication across the continent.

Fraud.

Tens of thousands of dollars are squandered yearly upon traveling quacks, who go from town to town professing to cure all the ills that our poor humanity is heir to. Why will not the public learn common sense, and if they are suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint, invest a dollar in SPRING BLOSSOM, sold by all druggists and endorsed by the faculty. See testimonials. Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.

Mosby Outwitted.

Mosby was seldom defeated and never outwitted to his knowledge but once. The incident has never been in print. I believe, and I am assured that the partisan never related it, it was so very mortifying. It is a trifle, but may amuse the reader. Colonel Mosby had crossed the mountains with a few men into Clarke County, when he was informed that a Federal officer with a squad of cavalrymen was in the vicinity. The officer had stopped at "Clay Hill," the residence of one Whiting, and Mosby made up his mind to capture the officer and men. His action was prompt, as usual. He went to Clay Hill, captured the Federal officer while he was seated at supper and carried him off a prisoner to Upperville, east of the Blue Ridge. There had been nothing at all unpleasant about the whole affair. Mosby and his prisoner were on the most friendly terms. The partisan had ridden his favorite gray mare on the scout, and at Upperville was standing beside her ready to mount, when the Federal officer said:

"That's a superb animal, Colonel."

"Yes," was the gratified reply of the partisan as he patted the mare's neck. The officer sauntered closer.

"A very fine animal!" he repeated. "I'll try her paces." And throwing himself into the saddle, he disappeared at full speed, and Colonel Mosby never again saw his favorite gray mare or his prisoner.—J. Esten Cook in Philadelphia Times.

Death Chamber of Burr.

A few moons ago I took the ferry-boat to the north, or northwest, shore of Staten Island, and landed at the village immediately opposite Bergen Point, called Port Richmond, so named because it is the water landing to old Richmond Court House, at the centre of the island.

There is not a more animated spot in the water scenery of New York bay than this. It shows both the Bay of New York and Newark Bay, the latter receiving the commerce of Newark City and the Hackensack marshes, and of the Jersey inlets as far down as the Raritan River. They all pass out between Port Richmond and Bergen Point through the Kill Von Kull, which is only half a mile wide. A sick man could sit all day long at his window by this water, watching tugs, propellers, pleasure-steamer, sloops and schooners, oyster crafts, rafts and barge tows, garbage fleets, yachts, and excursion arks filled with music and dancing go past like processions in a mirror.

It was to Port Richmond that Colonel Burr, ex-Senator and vice-president of the United States, ex-candidate for Governor of New York, and for Minister to France, and once almost President of the United States, was brought one day in early June upon a litter to die. The hotel, now called the Continental, stands nearly as it did at that moment, right in your face as you turn from the water at Port Richmond, and only a few hundred feet distant—a yellowish brown hotel with a gambrel roof and six tall, spare, thick wooden columns rising to the eaves and enclosing the steps to this piazza, a broad door and hall are right opposite the middle of it, and a broad flight of naked steps rises to the second floor and a similar hall there, and the room to the left, as you look up from the ground, is the room where Aaron Burr died. Under it is the bar-room now. The chamber is a square room, with little square bits of carpeting about the chimney side, and it is of respectable size, quite a bedroom parlor. Mr. Burr was borne to it on a litter from a steamboat, an old helplessly invalid, persecuted by bodily decay and creditors, and the fear of dying in the street.

He had lost the confidence of man, woman and child. Politics had spewed him out thirty years before. Family circles had tried him too often. Women had found that he would not only kiss, but tell. Clients found that he would sell their confidence to the other side. The religious world remembered that the greatest logician and theologian since Paul had been this ostentatious grandfather. The educated class knew that the founder of Princeton College had been Aaron Burr's father. Lawyers knew that his sister's husband had founded the first law school in the New World. Once his daughter had led the fashion and beauty of Washington society, and married one of the richest planters of the South.

He was about to die in sight of his birthplace at Newark and of his orphan home at Elizabeth, where his father and grandmother had ministered to him when he had entered the Revolutionary Army. These two towns of New Jersey are only a mile distant. Fifty years before being brought to Staten Island to die, young Burr, while on Washington's staff, had proposed to the General to head an expedition against Staten Island, every lane and corner of which he knew, having made its hills his rambling-ground from the flat, mosquito-ridden plains of Elizabeth. It was perhaps his prayer, made's son, Judge Edwards, a resident of Staten Island, who was almost his only visitor at the inn. That island of Tories was now about to receive the last mould and living shadow of Aaron Burr.

A few moments after examining this room I fell in with an old man of one of Washington Irving's Dutch countenances, by the name of John J. Clute. He was writing a local history, since published. Said I, "Sir, you are old enough to have seen Aaron Burr on this island?"

"Sir," he replied, "you are now talking to the man who held the hand of Aaron Burr when he wrote his last signature in this world."

I asked the particulars. "Judge Edwards, my neighbor, came to me and said, 'Mr. Clute, there is a sick man at the Port Richmond hotel who wishes to make an affidavit to an application for a pension; will you take his statement?' I went to the hotel with the judge, and found a small man, a mere spring of bones, mumbling to him self in bed. I said, 'This man is not fit to make an affidavit. I will not administer it.' 'Well,' said Judge Edwards, 'suppose you come around toward evening. He gets better in the afternoon.' I returned in the afternoon, and he was just well enough to give his oath. He was raised up in his bed, a poor little old thing, and I filled the quilt with ink and guided his fingers. And, sir, I could not help thinking, 'This is the hand that killed Hamilton!'"

THE SOUND ENTOWLED.

Chas. Thompson, Franklin street, Buffalo, says: "I have suffered for a long time with constipation, and tried almost every purgative advertised, but only resulting in temporary relief, and after 'constipation still more aggravated.' I was told about your SPRING BLOSSOM, and tried it, I can now say I am cured, and though some months have elapsed, still remain so. I shall, however, always keep some on hand in case of old complaint returning." Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.

WHEN Emile de Girardin introduced into France the cheap newspaper and daily slice of a novel "to be continued in our next," the age of literary fortunes began. The elder Dumas made and spent millions of francs. With the Siècle alone he had a contract for 100,000 lines a year at thirty cents a line—a figure that remained unparalleled until this year, when Alphonse Daudet was paid the same price for his novel, in the Illustration of Paris, in the Independence Belge and the Nouv. France simultaneously. The old Constitutionnel paid $20,000 for Eugene Sue's "Wandering Jew."

GEORGE SCHMIDT was playing cards with the widow Smith in Cleveland. Gazing with a sudden assumption of amazement and delight at a particular card, he declared that he saw in it the fact that $75,000 was buried in the bayard. Then he pretended to selfishly regret that he had imparted the secret to the widow, which made her eager to share in the treasure, and enabled him to get $100 from her for the cost of the proposed digging. This was merely a preliminary experiment by Schmidt. A few days later he swindled the widow Kneiss out of $500 in the same manner.

Mothers! Mothers! Mothers!!!

Are you distressed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it;

there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic.

It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the most eminent physicians.

Briefs.

—Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F.

met at the Odd Fellows' hall this evening.

—Shopbell & Norris are now operating their planing mill and sash and door factory.

—Remember the lecture by Rev. Father

Cleary, at Lappin's Music hall, this evening.

—The dress party of Prof. Severance's dancing class will be held this evening, at Apollo hall.

—Mr. Wm. English has been re-elected

Chief Engineer of the Beloit fire department.

—It is whispered that one of our city aldermen will embark in the grocery business ere long.

—Mrs. Palmer, Whiting and Barrows have gone to Mineral Point, to attend the meeting of the State Medical Society.

—Our Street Commissioner, with Ald.

Lennartz, is planning and laying out street improvements in the Fourth ward.

—A. J. Glass, superintendent of the

Janesville Manufacturing Company,

Janesville, Wis., is in the city looking after the farm machinery trade—Omaha

—One of the finest beer coolers ever made in this city has just been finished by Shopbell & Norris, for a person in Freeport.

—Mr. Perry H. Hall, formerly a resident of Janesville, is in the city on business. He is now operating a flour mill at Lanesborough, Minn., in connection with his brother.

—Messrs. Watson and Ward have employed all the available teams in the city, for the purpose of hauling stone for the dam, and stone is being piled into the break at a lively rate.

—City Clerk Charles E. Church is now making out the "chromos," as he calls them, for such of our citizens as have had license granted them to sell intoxicating liquors this year.

—Among the callers at the Gazette office, to-day, was Mr. Robert McCurdy, of Oshkosh, ex-Assistant State Treasurer, and now superintendent of agencies for the Hecla insurance company.

—County Clerk Morgan is now ready to supply the assessors of Rock county with the necessary books and blanks, for the work of assessing the taxable property of the county, and the gathering of statistics.

—Rev. Mr. Pullen, of Christ church, received a telegram to-day, that his mother was very dangerously ill at Berrien,

Michigan. Mrs. Pullen will start for Michigan to-morrow morning, to be present and assist at her bedside.

—Mr. H. H. Guernsey, brother of Miss

Minerva Guernsey, is in the city on his way to his farm in Dakota. For some time he has been with the Guernsey

Lastemann Combination. Miss Guernsey

is still winning public applause and drawing crowded houses.

—Among those registering at the Vilas

House, this morning were C. L. Martin and C. Miner, of Janesville, gentlemen interested in matters pertaining to the State Agricultural Society, and W. D.

McKee, also of Janesville, but well known here because having been a business man of this city.—State Journal.

—The tonsorial establishment of Wisch &

Aschcraft is supplied with a splendid assortment of barbers, all skillful workmen in every department of the business. This accounts for the popularity of the firm.

—Victor Jouanneau, who suffered a severe fracture of his knee some years ago, and from which he never permanently recovered, is again kept in close quarters by the pains of the defective joint.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. M. S.

Palmer was held at the residence of Rev.

A. J. Mead this afternoon at one o'clock, and was largely attended by the sympathizing friends of the deceased. Rev

Hodge, of the Baptist church, conducted the services at the house, after which the remains were taken to their final resting place in Oak Hill cemetery. Messrs. John

W. Carpenter, Wm. B. Noyes, H. Bump,

and J. A. Denniston acting as pall bearers.

—Court house square was visited by thousands of people on Sunday, and many evincing great surprise that the contractors had pushed the foundation work ahead so rapidly. Such an expression is highly complimentary, as the expressions are usually just the other way, where public works are concerned.—Fond du Lac

Commonwealth.

—The people of Fond du Lac will wake up one of these days and find a new court house in their city, all complete. That's the kind of a contractor Oscar Nowlan is,

and it will not be many days before the people up there will be awakened.

—Water Witch Engine Company No.

2 has received, through Mr. W. H. Tallman, the memorial services of the late

William Kemp, held at No. 11, East Forty-Eighth street, New York, December

24th, 1881, printed in handsome book form, with photograph of deceased. The memorial book contains the funeral service and sermon, by Rev. Dr. Thomas

Armitage, and a brief biographical sketch of his life. The book will be highly prized by the company, who will never forget the generosity and friendship of their first and best foreman.
